

To: Richards, Tim[Richards.Tim@epa.gov]; GEOServices[GEOServices@epa.gov];
ESRISupport[ESRISupport@epa.gov]
Cc: Scheitlin, Tom[Scheitlin.Tom@epa.gov]; Seaver, Craig[Seaver.Craig@epa.gov]; Wieber,
John[Wieber.John@epa.gov]; McComb, Martin[McComb.Martin@epa.gov]
From: Simon, Harvey
Sent: Thur 8/13/2015 6:59:22 PM
Subject: Publishing an webmap for the Gold King Mine Spill in Colorado

Tim and the National Geospatial Support Team stalwarts:

There's been quite a bit of discussion around over the past couple of days about adding some interactive mapping content to the web page for the spill. It sounds like the response and public affairs have decided to push ahead with that and Josh Krochmal is working on something to embed in the page that allows clicking on sample sites to see results. Can you work with him to expedite the publishing process? As with other crisis pushes would make sense to liberally interpret the SOP to get things up fast and fill in some of the documentation steps post-publication (if necessary).

Thanks!

Harvey

Harvey Simon
Geospatial Information Officer
EPA Office of Environmental Information

202-566-0917 Cell: 202-302-4777
Mail Code: 2843T, Room 5415-K EPA West
simon.harvey@epa.gov
